

The Janesville Daily Gazette.

VOLUME 25

Entered at the Post Office at Janesville, Wis., as second-class matter.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1881.

Published Every Evening Except Sunday, at $2 a Year.

NUMBER 78

There are some indications which lead the public to believe that the vindication will yet turn out to be a funeral.

There are no signs yet that Governor Cornell will decline. The senatorial plumb is a little too tempting to decline.

President Garfield has written a letter to a prominent Conkling man in New York, on the senatorial difficulty, which is full of common sense.

Since the 'he' started by the Conkling men, Robertson bolted Grant in 1872, has been neared, they can find no further fault with him except that he doesn't like Conkling.

The administration men at Albany should make haste to consolidate their forces, and bring the dead-lock to an end. To scatter their votes from day to day is a crime against the party.

The army of office-seekers in Washington hardly grows less with the approach of summer. They infest the city, and gather around the White House to hunger wolves around a carcass.

One of the attractions at a fashionable seaside resort this summer will be a California millionaire who rents a cottage for $4,500 for the season; and who a dozen years ago was a street-car conductor in San Francisco.

The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Wisconsin, met in annual session in Milwaukee on Tuesday. The attendance was very large. The membership in the State is 14,476, and the number of lodges 273. Nearly $130,000 was paid out for the relief of the brotherhood during the year, and to widows, $5,000. They have $9,467, in the treasury, and 1,600 members were admitted during the year.

There are a good many things that are true that can be said against Mr. Conkling without manufacturing false charges. The story that he will conspire with the Democrats to defeat the election of an administration Republican to the Senate can be set down as a campaign lie. With all his faults, Mr. Conkling has too much honor, is too proud, is too stanch a Republican to enter into any conspiracy which would place two Democrats in the United States Senate from New York.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

The decision which was rendered by the Supreme Court on Saturday last (Justice Lyon giving the opinion), in regard to fines collected in the counties of the State for breach of the penal laws, is quite important, as all the counties are defendant. The constitution provides that the "clear proceeds" of fines as penalty for breach of any State law shall be paid into the school fund. Counties generally, have failed to comply with the law, for the reason that the fines so collected were really absorbed by the costs of collecting them. This seemed to be the plea of all the county treasurers, so that the school fund was not being benefited by the fines which the constitution provides shall be paid into it. As a test case, Mr. Guenther, the State Treasurer, began an action against Mr. Miles, the Treasurer of Rock county, requiring him to make a return of such fines collected in that county. The Supreme Court holds that no distinction can be made for expenses of prosecution, except such deductions as are authorized by law, the Legislature having enacted a law which provides for a deduction of only two per cent, which the county treasurer must retain and the balance placed in the school fund. The court, however, intimated in the opinion, that it had doubts of the validity of that section as it had not been raised in the case. If counties are compelled to place into the State treasury all the moneys collected on fines, the aggregate will be quite considerable, and to some counties will be a heavy burden. In Rock county the amount will be somewhere between $1,600 and $2,000.

THE ROCK COUNTY FAIR.

The Rock county fair, to be held in Janesville in September, promises to be a genuine success. The failure of the past two years have moved the managers to the determination to reverse the verdict of the people and give Southern Wisconsin the best exhibition in its history. Cap Vankirk is the right man in the right place. He has taken hold of this fair with all the energy and vim that he has given to other causes, and made them singularly successful by reason of it. The subscriptions are quite liberal and rapidly increasing. A large number of special premiums in cash will be offered. For instance, $25 for the best tub of butter; $10 for the best bushel of potatoes; $5, for the best head of cabbage; $50, for the best beef creature; $20, for the best hog, and so on. These special premiums will be offered by gentlemen who are interested in the particular products specified, and gives the one who offers the premium the right to purchase the prize article at the market price. This will be a new feature in a Rock country fair, and must be very attractive. The track will be put in good shape, and the best trotters, pacers, and runners, that can be found in the country will be invited to compete. The purses for horses will be made large enough to insure the presence of noted animals, and an exciting time may be expected.

The Gazette hopes that every man, woman, and child in the county, will work with a will and help show the people of the West what Old Rock can do if she only tries.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Star Route Thieves Greatly Alarmed concerning Their Trial.

The Government Agents Pushing Right along for a Successful Termination.

The Views of the President in Relation to the New York Contest.

The Ohio Republicans Assembling in State Convention.

Governor Foster to be Re-Nominated by Acclamation.

A Pittsburg Man Attempts to Kill His Divorced Wife and Commits Suicide.

The State Medical Society in Session at Milwaukee.

Grounderless Charges against the Superintendent of the Milwaukee Hospital.

The State Board of Control on the Boards of the State Institutions.

They Visit the Deaf and Dumb Institution at Delavan.

Other Interesting State and Miscellaneous News Items.

THE STAR ROUTE MEN.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The prosecution of the star route thieves is approaching what the agents of the government believe will be a successful termination. The members of the ring themselves are greatly alarmed. Heretofore they have maintained an air of defiance, ridiculing the idea of any criminal or civil prosecutions being successful. They erred through the courts. Within the last few days a complete change has come over the alleged criminals. Brady, in anticipation of prosecution, has employed counsel to defend him. Dorsey is at home here, his friends say, completely prostrated, for fear of exposure and punishment. It is understood that intimations have been received from some of the understrappers of the ring that they are willing to disclose the secrets they have concealed for so many years.

Postmaster General James has effected an annual saving of over $400,000 since he entered the department, and the most of this sum has been cut off the expedited and increased routes held by the ring.

On one route of Sandusky alone $23,000 has been lopped. In thus curtailing the service, illegal profits of the ring are stopped and the bona-fide properties are turned into assessment mines. The contractors are desperate, and through their organs in this city they daily hear abuse upon everybody who is suspected of having anything to do with the ring taken to bring the members of the ring to justice.

The case against the members of the ring is nearly complete. The attorney general is supervising its preparation, and Mr. MacVeagh's legal ability will not be questioned by any one who knows his standing at the Pennsylvania bar. The case against the members of the ring is said to be well nigh perfect, and the government will cause it to be presented in a convincing manner.

OHIO REPUBLICANS.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 7.—The Republican State convention will be held here to-morrow and the city to-night is filled with prominent politicians from all over the State. Senator John Sherman arrived this afternoon, and will be the permanent chairman of the convention, delivering a speech when he assumes the position which will be directed toward Albany, and which, it is hoped, will encourage the "half-breeds." Garfield will be endorsed, notwithstanding the fact that the Cincinnati statuary and a few others have been endeavoring to head off such a movement.

Governor Foster will be renominated in due time. So will State Treasurer Tueller, and a member of the board of public works.

There is opposition to Foster from a few radical temperance people, but all unite in saying that he must be placed at the head of the ticket again to insure success in this State.

THE PRESIDENT.

Some Singular Stories in Relation to President Garfield and the New York Collectorship.

ALBANY, June 7.—Some singular stories are floating around in relation to President Garfield and the senatorial election. It is stated that the President has written a carefully-prepared letter to a prominent anti-Conkling citizen in Albany in which he deprecates the use of the New York custom-house for or against the interest of any faction. He says he appreciates the friendly feeling which prompts the collector and his friends to send to the United States Senate from the State of New York representatives who are warmly and entirely in sympathy with his administration, but he does not deem it necessary to make that issue, since he only asks the support of Republicans, and he believes Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be both more dignified and more advantageous to the administration to let it go, and to return Mr. Conkling and Mr. Platt, to be true Republicans who have nothing against him except the matter of the collectorship, which is now settled, and a thing of the past. Especially, he deems it inexpedient to raise an administration and anti-administration issue in a scrambling fight, where a protracted struggle or a forced compromise might tend to injure the administration as much as a signal defeat. He has no desire, he says, to intermeddle with New York matters, but he wants it understood that he did not make Mr. Robertson collector in order that he might make a fight against Mr. Conkling and his friends, or with the thought of dividing the Republicans of the State. He offers the suggestion that it would be

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY JUNE 8, 1881.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

Post-Office---Summer Time Table.

| | |
|---|------------|
| The mails arrive at the Janesville Post Office as follows: | 1:30 P. M. |
| Madison and Milwaukee..... | 7:00 A. M. |
| Chicago Through Night via Milton and Watertown Junctions..... | 7:00 A. M. |
| Green Bay and Way..... | 9:00 A. M. |
| Monroe and Way..... | 9:00 A. M. |
| Madison and Way..... | 1:30 P. M. |
| Milwaukee and Way..... | 5:00 P. M. |

OVER-LAND MAIL ARRIVE.

| | |
|--|-------------|
| Center and Leyden, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays by..... | 12:00 M. |
| Emerson Grove, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays by..... | 12:00 M. |
| East Troy, via Johnston, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays by..... | 12:00 M. |
| Beloit stage..... | 11:30 A. M. |

| | |
|---|-------------|
| Mails close at the Janesville Post Office as follows: | 1:00 P. M. |
| Madison and Milwaukee..... | 8:00 P. M. |
| Chicago Through Night via Milton Junction also Milton..... | 8:00 P. M. |
| All Chicago, East, West and South of Chicago..... | 2:00 P. M. |
| All Points East, West and South of Chicago via Milton Junction..... | 8:00 P. M. |
| Great Bay and Way, including Minnesotan Northern, Michigan and Northern Iowa..... | 1:00 P. M. |
| West Madison and W. Va. via C. & W. in Northern Iowa..... | 11:00 A. M. |
| Monroe, Brodhead and Way..... | 1:00 P. M. |
| Rockford, Freeport and Way..... | 2:00 P. M. |

OVER-LAND MAIL CLOSE.

| | |
|--|------------|
| Beloit stage..... | 4:00 P. M. |
| Central and Leyden, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays by..... | 2:00 P. M. |
| East Troy, via Rock Prairie, Johnston, Center, Johnston, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at..... | 2:30 A. M. |
| Richland and Waukesha, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at..... | 2:30 A. M. |
| Emerald Grove and Fairfield, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at..... | 2:00 P. M. |

POST-OFFICE HOURS.

| |
|---|
| Daily from 8:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M. On Sundays from 12:00 M. to 5:00 P. M. Monday to Friday from 8:00 A. M. to 12:00 M., and from 1:00 to 5:00 P. M., except during the distribution of the mails. Stamps, stamped envelopes, post cards and wraps for one cent each, and a width of six inches for 12 cents. |
| Orders for stamped envelopes with return card printed thereon, should be left at the Monday order Department. |
| On Tuesday and Friday, a through pouch from Chicago is received on the Fond du Lac train, and on Monday morning ONLY, a through pouch is made up and forwarded to Chicago on the 7 o'clock train. |

By reading this table carefully, the public can post themselves thoroughly upon the arrival and departure of all the mails, and thus avoid much inconvenience to themselves.

H. A. PATTERSON, P. M.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT.

Special Meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Rock County.

Official Proceedings of the Board.

[CONCLUDED.]

Mr. Merrill, from committee on charters and incorporations, presented the following report:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Rock County.

The committee on charters and incorporations to whom was referred communications relative to the Newville bridge, in the town of Fullerton, being unable to get sufficient data for a proper report for action at this session.

Respectfully return the communications and recommend that the same be referred to a new standing committee on charters, to be appointed by the chairman.

S. T. MERRILL,
SILAS WARD,
Committee.

Report adopted.

The chairman appointed as committee No. 12, on roads and bridges:

Shelton, Kehler, McElroy, J. B. Miller.

Mr. Felt presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Rock county,

That the sum of $12,323 be, and is hereby appropriated for payment of one quarter's salary of the Municipal Judge of Rock county, and the clerk is hereby directed to draw an order on the county treasurer for said amount.

Resolution adopted.

Ayes—24.

Noes—0.

Mr. Shumaker presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Rock county,

That the sum of seventy-five dollars be, and is hereby appropriated to meet the expenses of painting the roof of the court house.

Adopted.

Ayes—24.

Noes—0.

Mr. McIntyre from committee on claims reported as follows on the bill of J. W. Sale:

To the Hon. Board of Supervisors of Rock County:

Your committee No. 10, to whom was referred the claim of J. W. Sale in the case of the State of Wisconsin against Willis Miles, county treasurer, for argued his case before the Supreme Court, and found him to be in the right, report that they have had the same under consideration and find the same correct and recommend it be allowed and an order drawn on the county treasurer for the amount of said claim, viz., seventy-five dollars.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. J. MCINTYRE,
R. E. HARPER,
Committee.

Adopted.

Ayes—24.

Noes—0.

Mr. McIntyre from committee on claims reported as follows on the bill of J. W. Sale:

To the Hon. Board of Supervisors of Rock County:

Your committee No. 10, to whom was referred the claim of J. W. Sale in the case of the State of Wisconsin against Willis Miles, county treasurer, for argued his case before the Supreme Court, and found him to be in the right, report that they have had the same under consideration and find the same correct and recommend it be allowed and an order drawn on the county treasurer for the amount of said claim, viz., seventy-five dollars.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. J. MCINTYRE,
R. E. HARPER,
Committee.

Adopted.

Ayes—24.

Noes—0.

Mr. Green presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Rock county,

That the sum of $120 be appropriated to the building committee for repairs on public buildings in the city of Janesville, to be used if necessary, between now and the November meeting.

Adopted and appropriation made.

Ayes—24.

Noes—0.

The Clerk then read the per diem and mileage of members as follows:

Days. Miles Travel. Amt.

Peter Aller..... 3 80 28

L. C. Beedell..... 2 4 64

George C. Clegg..... 2 4 64

A. H. Sheldon..... 2 4 12

E. K. Felt..... 32 5 92

J. B. Miller..... 20 5 84

John D. Clegg..... 20 5 20

Seth Fisher..... 20 5 20

Wm. Gardner..... 22 5 32

Wm. Gun..... 6 4 36

R. B. Harper..... 20 5 80

George Howard..... 20 5 80

George Hauthorn..... 16 4 96

John N. Nye..... 20 5 80

Washington James..... 28 5 68

C. C. Kehler..... 1 4 12

J. C. Metaloff..... 28 5 68

W. L. Miller..... 28 5 68

S. T. Merrill..... 28 5 68

Chas. N. Nye..... 26 5 56

A. S. Baker..... 36 4 16

W. H. Peck..... 28 5 68

John Rathbun..... 2 4 12

F. E. Race..... 28 3 68

S. H. Blaymaker..... 32 5 92

K. E. Scott..... 28 4 48

W. T. Thompson..... 22 5 32

Silas Ward..... 16 4 84

James Menzies..... 16 4 84

$153.08

Mr. Menzies moved the per diem and mileage of members be allowed as read by the Clerk, and orders drawn on the Treasurer for the severance of the same.

Adopted.

Ayes—24.

Noes—0.

Mr. McIntyre, on motion of Mr. McIntyre, the board adjourned.

J. S. Morgan, County Clerk of Rock County, Wisconsin, and the reporter of the journal of proceedings of the County Board of Supervisors of said county, at their special session held on the 1st and second days of June, 1881, and the whole thereof.

Janesville, June 6th, 1881.

S. MORGAN,
County Clerk Rock County.

UNION.

Tobacco sellers are happy for they could not have any better weather if made to order. Setting commenced in May and by June 18th nearly one-half of the tobacco will be set.

Some fields of corn are being badly used by cut worms.

Oats are being drawn to Evansville from this way, to a considerable extent, at from 30 to 35 cents.

Rev. Mr. Robertson, of Beloit, continues to supply the pulpit in the Baptist church.

The young folks are planning an excursion to the First Lake, next Saturday. Fishing and picnic parties seem to be the order of the day.

C. N. Fairbanks has the material drawn for a new house to be erected on his farm this summer.

Our school house was built just in time, as there are twenty-seven children in the district not yet old enough to attend school.

Frank Davenport has returned from Omaha, Nebraska, where he has been spending the winter.

A new house and barn and wind mill are among the improvements on the farm of Mrs. E. C. Gillies.

Ninety-one above zero has been registered by the thermometers in Union, two or three different times this season.

HILTON JUNCTION.

Mr. N. E. Maxon left about ten days since for Mitchell Dakota, with a view of purchasing some land and taking a look at the country.

The anniversary session of the ladies Golden Star at the M. E. Church last Thursday night was well attended. Rev. Mr. Miller presented a lengthy reading for the good of the order, which with the exceptional fine music furnished by the choir made the evening one of interest and profit.

The rain in this vicinity on Saturday night was the only one of the series that really got down to business and wet the earth thoroughly, and a community of thankful farmers is the result.

Mr. Delong of Janesville, bought a few crops of tobacco in this locality.

Prof. Judson Burdick of Milton, occupied the pulpit of the Seventh-Day Baptist church here on Saturday morning, Rev.

JANESVILLE BUSINESS DIRECTORY!

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1881

LEAF TOBACCO HOUSE.

Cigar Goods a Specialty. Plenty Storage Room.

O. D. ROWE,

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN.
Dealer in Leaf Tobacco—Good Stock of Old Tobacco Always on Hand.

GENERAL BLACKSMITHING.

H. W. BATHORN.

RIVER ST. — JANESVILLE,
General Blacksmith. Horse Shoeing a Specialty.
Repairing of all kinds on short notice and warranted. Prices as low as the lowest. Shop on River street, in rear of First National Bank.
markdawly

CARRIAGE PAINTING

J. B. LAGRANGE

Would respectfully call attention to his extensive workshop on Main Street, in the rear of Hodge & Buchholz' shop, where he is prepared to do first class Carriages and Artistic Painting of a superior workmanship. Give him a call.

HARNESS, BLANKETS, Etc.

JAMES A. FATHERS,

(SUCCESSOR TO CHAS. H. PAYNE.)
Cor. Court and Main St. — JANESVILLE, Wis.
Manufacturing and dealing in Light and Heavy
Horse Saddles, Collars, Bridles, Whips,
Brushes, Combs, etc., etc. Also a good assortment of Trunks, Valises and Ladies' Satchels.
The best kind of Harness Odds always on hand.
A large stock of Harness, Nets, etc.

W. M. SADDLER,

EAST MILWAUKEE ST. — JANESVILLE
(Opera House Block).
A Large Stock of First Class Harness and Trunks on Hand at Bottom Prices.

GAS AND STEAM FITTING.

GEO. T. PRICHARD & CO.

NO. 45 NORTH MAIN ST. — JANESVILLE
(Opposite the County Gazette Office).
Gas, Steam and Water Pipe Fitting. Dealers in Pumps and Cylinders. Gas Fixtures, Pipe
Rubber Hose, and all kinds of Fittings for Gas Steam and Water Works. All work in the shop time done on reasonable terms.

MYERS HOUSE LIVERY.

C. W. JACKMAN, Proprietor.

EAST MILWAUKEE ST. — JANESVILLE
Myers' New Barn.
Hearse and Carriages for Funerals
Specialty.

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTING.

HOLM & KENT,

House Sign & Ornamental Painters.
Frescoing, Graining, and Paper Hanging, Specials in Painting Terms to Messrs. Wm. Wm.
Cannan, David Jeffries, B. F. Crockett, Frank
Cook, Dr. Geo. H. McCausley, and E. V. Whitton
& Co. Shop over Chas. Dutton's grocery, West
Milwaukee Street. Leave orders with W. V.
Whitton & Co.

H. H. BLANCHARD'S

Law, Collection, Real Estate and Loan Office.

regular hours 9 A. M. to 12 M.; 7:30 P. M. to,
10 o'clock P. M.
Wanted for collection all notes, bills, accounts and judgments, also unpaid bills, debts, overdue, and for foreclosing all mortgages due or past due at his office, on Main Street, over M. G.
Smith & Son's Clothing Store, Janesville, Wisconsin. All business intrusted to his care will be promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

INSURANCE.

JOHN G. SAWYER

Represents Sixteen of the Most Substantial Fire Insurance Companies of Europe and the United States.

Also Agent for the Erie Life and the Mutual Protection Association of Wisconsin, the most reliable Insurance Association in the West. Has farms in Rock county and elsewhere to exchange for city property, and money to loan.

HAIR GOODS.

MRS. W. H. SADDLER,

EAST MILWAUKEE ST. — JANESVILLE
(Opera House Block).

Manufacturer and Dealer in Ladies' Hair Nets and all kinds of Human Hair Goods.

Ladies

Do you want a pure, blooming Complexion? If so, a few applications of Hagan's MAGNOLIA BALM will gratify you to your heart's content. It does away with Saltiness, Redness, Pimples, Blotches, and all diseases and imperfections of the skin. It overcomes the flushed appearance of heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes a lady of THIRTY appear but TWENTY; and so natural, gradual, and perfect are its effects, that it is impossible to detect its application.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

BITTERS

The Traveller who wisely provides against the effects of Bitter Bitter by taking with him Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has no cause to congratulate himself on his foresight, when he sees others who have neglected to do so suffering from some one of the maladies which it cures and alleviates. Among these are fevers and ague, biliousness, constipation and rheumatism, disease often attendant upon a change of climate or unaccustomed diet.
For sale by all Druggists and Drapers generally.

To Whom It May Concern!

Notice is hereby given by the Common Council of the city of Janesville that they intend to vote on Monday, June 10, 1881, that portion of Glenwood and Prairie's Shaw's addition to the Village of Janesville in the Second Ward of the City of Janesville leading from Main street to Rock river and back to Main street, by lot 15 in said addition, on the East by Main street and on the West by Rock river, and said council will act thereon on the 1st day of July, 1881, and said council will be seated on that night.

By order of the Common Council.

CHAS. E. CHURCH,
City Clerk.

BLANK DEEDS and MORTGAGES FOR SALE AT THE Gazette Counting Room.

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1881

A Visit to the Maharaja of Jaipur.

I arrived at Jaipur early in the morning, and as I entered the city a fearful din assailed my ears. It was the reveille, and the household troops were turning out of the barracks. I managed to gain admission to the hotel, as though the train had arrived, the hotel people, being servants of the Government, did not think it necessary to attend to the wants of travelers. Each native State has a Political Agent. He is a servant of the Indian Government, and is generally an officer of standing and reputation. He is the de facto ruler of these so-called independent States. He advises the Maharaja on all important questions, and his word is law. Each State has to support its Political Agent. The Maharaja is ever willing to open his palace to visitors, but the understrappers, anxious to show their importance, sometimes make matters unpleasant if one is unprovided with the Agent's passport. The entrance to the palace is circuitous. A grand archway has to be first passed, on each side of which are rooms, forming the quarters of the palace guard. An ill-dressed, untidy soldier marches up and down the entrance, his musket being carried in any way, sometimes across his shoulders, but often is thrown on the ground behind the sentry has a pull at the hukka. For the sake of formality he challenges, but if smoking he does not trouble himself to present arms. As the first gateway is passed a huge square court-yard is reached, with a building in the center. This serves as a kind of dormitory for the hangers-on of the court. In this court-yard are gathered people and vehicles of all descriptions. Europeans with their broughams and buggies, native couriers with their curious ekkas, naked negresses, fat Brahmin priests, gaudily-dressed dancing-girls, soldiers and hucksters, all help to make the most varied scene imaginable. Even and again out dash from low, dark portals richly dressed servants, carrying in their hands long sticks of pure silver. These are the silver-sticks-in-waiting. And their business is to announce visitors. This they do in the most obsequious manner. Following these are men with big punks made from peacock's tails, who fan and keep off the flies from the bodies of distinguished personages. These are great men, as they wield influence with the crowd, and many is the rupee slipped into their hands before an audience can be gained. The first room of note is the Dewan Khana, or hall of audience, this is only used on state occasions. The ordinary durbars are held in the private quarters of the Maharaja's palace. A rich flowered carpet covers the floor; to the extreme right of the room is placed a magnificent throne, whilst ranged round about are handsome European chairs with gilt legs and deep red velvet cushions. A life-size portrait of the Queen of England adorns one of the embrasures. This hall is perfectly open on the sides, being closed only by heavy curtains. The roof is supported by thirteen studded pillars, and the room is illuminated by ten chandeliers, giving a grand blaze of light. Leading from this strange tower is the palace treasury. Another sleepy, ill-kept guard watches the brass door where are stored the court valuables, the jewelry and, if reported speaks the truth, immense sums of money with bars of solid silver and gold. A belief is current that underneath the palace is another treasury, the right passage to which is even unknown to the Maharaja. This secret is in safe keeping of the priests. People say that only on condition of the Maharaja going blindfolded would his spiritual advisers take him to the vaults. Another grand entrance is then passed, which leads to the sardars, or noblemen's audience chamber. This is smaller and not so well fitted up as the princely audience hall. Passing through this court I noticed the royal hunting birds; there were about fifty of them, hawks, kites, etc. In the same courtyard is the Katcherry, or law Courts, and various other offices connected with the palace. Here all the expenses of the royal household are entered and paid. The royal stables, the kitchens, the gardens and even the various sums disbursed by the King in his private pleasure are faithfully entered and severely commented upon. It is a scene of continual wrangling, and, according to European ideas, disgraceful in the extreme. Hard by are numbers of bicycles of all shapes and sizes. Curious to know if the Maharaja took an interest in them I asked my guide, and he gave me the following laconic story: "Yes, the Maharaja like bicycles. An Englishman is Bicycle-master to the State. He came here very drunk and tried to ride and his frequent falls convulsed with laughter the King and court, and so, for having caused them food for laughter, he is given $100 a month, horses, food and house free." From this court I passed into the gardens. Like all Oriental pleasure-gardens, fountains, statues, marble walks and ponds were found where one least expected. At the bottom of this garden is a splendid pavilion, overlooking an artificial lake. It is here that the Maharaja entertains his European guests, as if an European dinner would pollute the palace. Looking through the richly painted windows the word "Welcome," painted on a big rock, greets the eye. The Maharaja delighted in billiards and any one who could play a fairly good game was sure to attract his attention and eventually rise high in his esteem. —Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

How Irish Peasants Live.

The dens, misnamed cots, in which the peasantry of Galway and Mayo Counties live are merely stone shelters; owing to the intense ignorance of the people they are not provided with any facilities for drainage and are often incomparably filthy. The floors are of hard mud; it is rare to find more than one room in a hut, and only one story. Beds and bedding are luxuries which the poorer tenants do not possess; old heaps of hay and straw are the couches on which the lovely brown-eyed, large breasted maidens of Connaught repose. The smoke from a peat fire in common peasant's cabin spreads through the room, and you narrowly escape strangulation on your first visit. I have had this experience in Herzegovina and consequently minded the smoke but little. How family decency is maintained in these dens is a mystery and how the people manage to keep clean—for they look clean—is a puzzle. The pigs run in and out of the door and such wretched pig! A North Carolina wild hog would be an aristocrat beside them! In dozens of these cabin sick people are to be found—sick people dependent either on the charity of their neighbors or on friends in America who send them small sums. —Dobell Letter.

Many Railroads have discarded the old make of scales, substituting the Improved Howe. BORDEZ, SELLECK & CO., Agents Chicago.

Jeanne Darc.

He that is surely for a stranger, shall smart for it. But he that trusts them SPRING Blossom for curing her, shall complain and be disappointed. Price 50 cents trial boxes 10 cent.

Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

Gospel Truth.

He that is surely for a stranger, shall smart for it. But he that trusts them SPRING Blossom for curing her, shall complain and be disappointed. Price 50 cents trial boxes 10 cent.

Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

France had never—has never—been seen outside her. "The people," as the historian Martin expresses it, "were no longer bathed in their sweat, but ground in their blood, debased below the beasts of the forest, among which they wander, panic-stricken, mutilated, in quest of an asylum in the wilderness." This fervent and sympathetic girl came at length to see the desolation of her country; her own village was laid waste and plundered by a marauding band. From childhood she had been familiar with the legend, "France, lost through a maid, shall be maid again." The story of her exploits at court, in camp, in the field, is familiar to all the world. A thousand vulgar fictions obscure and degrade its essential truth. What this untrodden girl did for her country was simply this: She brought to bear upon the armies of France the influence of what our own Western preachers would call a "powerful revival of religion." From bands of reckless and dissolute plunderers she made French soldiers orderly, decent, and devout. Hope revived. She made the King believe in himself; she made the court believe in the cause. Men of faith saw in her the expected virgin savior; men of understanding perceived the advantage to their side of having her thus regarded. She may, too (as some of her warrior comrades testified in later years), have really possessed some military talent, as well as martial ardor and inspiration. They said of her that she had good judgment in placing artillery. Later in her short public career she showed herself restless, rash, uncontrollable; she made mistakes; she incurred disasters. But for many months, during which France regained a place among the powers of Europe, she was a glorious presence in the army—a warrior virgin, in brilliant attire, splendidly equipped, superbly mounted, nobly attended; a leader whom all eyes followed with confiding admiration, as one who had been their deliverer, and was still their chief. The lowliness of her origin was an element in her power over a people who worshipped every hour a Savior who was cradled in a manger. We can still read over the door of an ancient inn at Rheims, the Maison Rouge, this inscription: "In the year 1429, at the coronation of Charles VII., in this tavern, then called The Zebra, the father and mother of Jeanne Darc lodged, at the expense of the City Council."

Her career could not but be brief. When she left home to deliver her country, she had lived, according to the most recent French authorities, seventeen years and two months. Fifteen months later, May 24, 1430, after a series of important victories followed by minor defeats, she was taken prisoner under the walls of Compiegne, which she was attempting to relieve. French troops, fighting on the side of the English, captured her and held her prisoner. French priests, in the metropolitan church of Notre Dame, at Paris, celebrated her capture by a "Te Deum." It is doubtful if her own King lamented her loss; for this devoted, deluded girl belonged to the order of monks whom the powers of this world often find it convenient to be rid of as to use. It is probable that she had expended her power to the full, and had become unmanageable. Small, needless affairs, chargeable to her own rash impetuosity, had lessened her prestige. For the fair and wanted Agnes Sorrel the idle King of France would have attempted much; but he made no serious effort to ransom or to rescue the Maid to whom he owed his crown and kingdom. —James Parton, in Harper's Magazine.

Confidential.

The other morning when Mr. Jones entered his family drug store to have a prescription put up he found a new clerk in attendance. Mr. Jones has considerable curiosity, and while he waited began.

"Been here long?"

"Only two days."

"Going to stay?"

"I think so."

"Old clerk gone for good?"

"Yes."

"Come from New York?"

"No, I came from St. Louis."

"Didn't like the town, I suppose?"

"Oh, fairly."

"Got a better offer here, I presume?"

"Well, not much better."

"Druggist related to you?"

"No."

"Going to marry his daughter?"

"Haven't thought of it."

There was a brief rest until the clerk had finished his labors, and then he beckoned Mr. Jones into the back room and said:

"You look like a person who can be depended on, and I'll tell you in confidence why I came here. I liked St. Louis, and I had good wages, but I happened to kill three or four persons by putting up wrong prescriptions and I thought a change of location would relieve my sorrow. This is on the square, you know, and nothing is to be said unless I lay out two or three of your leading citizens, in which case I shall give up the drug business altogether and go sailing a sand-barge."

Jones went out feeling of his left ear and looking into vacuity, and his sore throat got well without the help of the gargoyle. —Detroit Free Press.

Contradictory accounts of Mexico are being given by present travelers. A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says: "It is not simply an impoverished country, with great natural resources which have been exhausted, for no degree of agricultural and commercial distress is beyond the possibility of recuperation. This country is naturally poor. Volcanic fires have blasted its surface. Vast sections, hundreds of square leagues, are but exterminators."

A correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal is equally positive that Mexico is not poor and arid, but "if inhabited by our race, in five years, with such a population and only of an equal number with that which Mexico now has, the mineral and agricultural exports alone would nearly equal all the exports of any other country of the world."

—It was rather romantic, the first meeting of the Baroness and young Bartlett. It seems he was a boy at Highgate School, and Lady Coutts chanced one day to be present at a school exhibition and heard him recite some poetry. She took a fancy to the boy there and then, 'tis said, and invited him, with one of his school fellows, to visit her. He did so, and in the lulls between lollipops and jam-tarts recited his poetry over again, to what effect on the heart and feelings of the old lady the culmination can testify.

—Must be punched by the conductor to make them good to return?" This is posted up in a railroad depot, and refers to excursion tickets and not to passengers.—N. O. Picayune.

—"P. T. JOYCE. Practical Boiler Master is engaged to Manufacture and Supply Steam Boiler Works, Land and Oil Tanks. Sheet Iron Work of every description. Particular attention paid to Repairing at reasonable rates. P. T. JOYCE, Janesville, Wis.

No. 8, West Milwaukee street, Janesville, Wis. April 22dawm.

—Many Railroads have discarded the old make of scales, substituting the Improved Howe. BORDEZ, SELLECK & CO., Agents Chicago.

—"Leaves to-day for the West Coast, San Fran- cisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego. —Chicago Daily Tribune.

—"Must be punched by the conductor to make them good to return?" This is posted up in a railroad depot, and refers to excursion tickets and not to passengers.—N. O. Picayune.

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1881.

The circulation of the GAZETTE is larger than the combined circulation of any five newspapers in Rock county.

Published Every Evening Except Sunday, at $2.00 Per Year by THE GAZETTE PRINTING COMPANY.

OFFICE ON NORTH MAIN STREET,

JANESVILLE, - - - WISCONSIN.

THE CITY

NOTICES FOR THIS COLUMN WILL BE CHARGED

FOR AT TEN CENTS PER LINE, FIRST INSERTION AND SIX CENTS FOR EACH SUBSEQUENT INSERTION IN DAILY, DAILY AND WEEKLY TWENTY CENTS FIRST, AND TWELVE CENTS EACH SUBSEQUENT IN-

ERTION.

LOST—Last April, on the road between Center and Janesville, a diary. The writing in the diary is in German. An owner can be found at Gazette office.

FOR SALE—At Gazette counting room a wire flower stand.

FOR SALE—One of the celebrated Improved Howe sewing machines, new and in perfect running order, price low, at the GAZETTE counting room.

LOCAL MATTER.

Ladies' and Gent's Stationery.

For a good article of Writing Paper, Envelopes, Pens, Ink, &c., at reasonable prices, call at Sutherland's Bookstore.

Go to A. J. Roberts for Mrs. Freeman's New National Dyes. For brightness and durability of color are unequalled. Color from 2 to 5 pounds. Price, 15 cents.

Mother! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

You are disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere 25 cents a bottle.

marisol-mon-wed-sat-33y

MISCELLANEOUS:

$600.

A Chance for a Good Investment

Six Hundred Dollars will buy a small, but convenient house and full sized lot centrally located on Jackson Street, Inquire at this office.

jadid

MANTLES, DOLMANS,

HAVELOCKS, and

WALKING JACKETS,

JAS. MORGAN

336 AND 338

East Water St., Milwaukee, Wis.

is now offering his Satin & Lyon Dolmans Cashmere Mantles and Dolmans, Silk Mantles, Ladies' Light Walking Jackets, with and without Hoods and Havelocks at Greatly Reduced Prices.

The Ladies' Misses' Children's Hats, Bonnets, Felt, Woolens, Spans, Cashmere Mantles, Feathers, Ornaments, Trimmings, etc., now being displayed in the elegant Millinery Department at James Morgan's, 336 and 338 East Water street, constitute the largest and finest stock of MILLINERY!

Ever shown in Milwaukee.

N E W

DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS

Cashmere, Cashmere Foulards, Cametteles, etc. in Fashionable shades. Black, Blue, Brown, Green, Yellow, Red, Wool, Damask, Henrietta, Cloth, Shoddy Cloths, Momic Cloth, Black Cashmeres, and other first class goods just opened.

JAS. MORGAN'S.

James Morgan takes pleasure in directing attention to his Unrivalled Stock of

HOOSIER HERRING.

OF AMERICAN, GERMAN, ENGLISH, and FRENCH Manufacture, and in the largest stock of Table Linen, Drapery, Napkins, Doyilles, Muslins, Cambrics, Sheetings, Tarleton Table Cloths, Lamps, Quilts, etc., in the White Goods Department. From the best manufacturers.

april 1981

Dr. JAMES

Lock Hospital,

204 Washington St.

Charter'd by the State

Illinoian Dispensary

for the Treatment of Chronic Urinary Diseases.

The head of the profession in the land, the highest in the art of the treatment of these diseases, and experience are a guarantee.

Frank Noonan, the young man from Madison who has been on trial for two days in the Circuit Court here, on a charge of rape, was last evening found guilty by the jury, who have been listening to the testimony. The penalty is from ten to thirty years in the State prison. A motion for a new trial was entered, and will be argued Saturday next.

—Joseph B. Crosby, who has recently returned from Florida, says that those who are anxious to learn about that State, its climate, soil, etc., can gain much valuable information from a little book entitled "Florida as it is," which is being distributed free by the Bureau of Immigration, and which any one can come in possession of it by writing to the agent, Samuel Fairbanks, Jacksonville, Florida.

The new Board of Control of the charitable institutions arrived in the city last evening, the Board consisting of Col.

George W. Burchard, President; General James Bintliff; Ex-Lieutenant Governor C. D. Parker; L. Proctor and Charles Loring. They spent the forenoon in visiting the Institution for the Blind, and this afternoon the local board turned over to their control, the books, papers and funds of the institution. To-night the Board go to Waukesha to visit the Industrial school there.

—Those who desire to preserve health by drinking filtered water can do no better than invest in one of Cook's upward self-cleaning filters. It is well that its name implies, and more too, and no healthier, purer water can be had than that which comes from the faucet of one of these filters. The fact that the filter itself is self-cleaning gives it a great advantage over all other filters. Mr. R. L. Colvin, of the Gazette, has had one in use some time, and he says it cannot be praised too highly. Hanchett & Sheldon have the filters on sale in this city.

—The gladsome news comes from Madison of the marriage of William H. Holmes, son of W. C. Holmes, of this city, to Miss Lottie Bresce Lewis, daughter of Hon. H. M. Lewis, United States District Attorney at Madison. The ceremony took place yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, and in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends only. Rev. C. H. Richards officiating. The happy bridegroom is well known here, and his many friends will give him hearty congratulations when opportunity affords, while the well wishes to the worthy bride thus won will be no less numerous or hearty.

—Mr. W. H. Hubbard, of the town of Union, a partner of Mr. Devereaux, in the cheese factory, near Evansville, has been in the city on jury duty for some time. He reports the factory as being in a very prosperous condition, and one may judge of the extent of the business.

—WAGNER & CO.

Our Michigan Ave. & Jackson St., Chicago, Ill.

mayfield-wm

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN!

A Very Desirable Residence on the East Side, containing eight acres of land, good barn, well and two cisterns, large orchard and any amount of various fruits.

A number of comfortable houses in different parts of the city. Call or address

Mrs. ANGIE J. KING

Attorney-at-Law

No. 8, West Milwaukee street, Janesville, Wis.

myfield-wm

RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

1881 ARRIVALS.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:40 P. M.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

From Madison, St. Paul and all points

North and West... 1:35 P. M.

From Milwaukee, St. Paul and Monroe... 1:35 P. M.

From Brodhead, and Albany... 1:35 P. M.

From Beloit, Freeport, Cedar Rapids... 2:25 P. M.

Rail Island South and West... 2:35 P. M.

—TRAINS DEPART.

For Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 8:30 A. M.

For Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

For Madison, St. Paul and all points

North and West... 1:35 P. M.

From Milwaukee, St. Paul and Monroe... 1:35 P. M.

From Brodhead, and Albany... 1:35 P. M.

From Beloit, Freeport, Cedar Rapids... 2:25 P. M.

Rail Island South and West... 2:35 P. M.

—RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

1881 ARRIVALS.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

For Madison, St. Paul and all points

North and West... 1:35 P. M.

From Milwaukee, St. Paul and Monroe... 1:35 P. M.

From Brodhead, and Albany... 1:35 P. M.

From Beloit, Freeport, Cedar Rapids... 2:25 P. M.

Rail Island South and West... 2:35 P. M.

—RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

1881 ARRIVALS.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

For Madison, St. Paul and all points

North and West... 1:35 P. M.

From Milwaukee, St. Paul and Monroe... 1:35 P. M.

From Brodhead, and Albany... 1:35 P. M.

From Beloit, Freeport, Cedar Rapids... 2:25 P. M.

Rail Island South and West... 2:35 P. M.

—RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

1881 ARRIVALS.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

For Madison, St. Paul and all points

North and West... 1:35 P. M.

From Milwaukee, St. Paul and Monroe... 1:35 P. M.

From Brodhead, and Albany... 1:35 P. M.

From Beloit, Freeport, Cedar Rapids... 2:25 P. M.

Rail Island South and West... 2:35 P. M.

—RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

1881 ARRIVALS.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

For Madison, St. Paul and all points

North and West... 1:35 P. M.

From Milwaukee, St. Paul and Monroe... 1:35 P. M.

From Brodhead, and Albany... 1:35 P. M.

From Beloit, Freeport, Cedar Rapids... 2:25 P. M.

Rail Island South and West... 2:35 P. M.

—RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

1881 ARRIVALS.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.

For Madison, St. Paul and all points

North and West... 1:35 P. M.

From Milwaukee, St. Paul and Monroe... 1:35 P. M.

From Brodhead, and Albany... 1:35 P. M.

From Beloit, Freeport, Cedar Rapids... 2:25 P. M.

Rail Island South and West... 2:35 P. M.

—RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

1881 ARRIVALS.

From Milwaukee, Chicago and East... 12:45 P. M.